CARL HOUGH FOUND IN SIOUX CITY, IA.

POSING UNDER NAME OF HARRY WILSON.

SAYS HE WAS MARRIED

Found Wife Gone After Booze Party Held With Two Other Men In Clarinda.

Bedford, Ia., Aug. 18.—Carl Hough has been arrested.

The man with whom Lillian McKinney, whose dead body was found under a bridge near New Market last Wednesday ran away from her home in Herrick, S. D. on August 5, was arrested in Sioux City at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon and admitted at midnight last night that he is Hough. He was going under the name of Harry Wilson.

Hough told the police that he and the McKinney girl were married in Spencer, Neb., by the Rev. Mr. Williams and that when they went to Clarinda, Ia. they went on a "booze party" with two other men and that he became unsconscious and, upon coming to, he found his wife gone.

Hough was apprehended following a tip to the police by Don Beach, of Omaha, who said that he was kicked of a train at Sioux City with a man answering Hough's description. A search of the city found Hough walking through the business district.

Sioux City police also stated tonight that they had recovered a Buick touring car with a Nebraska license, No. 23-765. This is the car in which Hough was reported to have left Herrick, S. D., with the McKinney girl on August 5, and which it is alleged was stolen from Norfolk, Nebr., shortly before that time. The license plates on the recovered car were the same ones stolen from Mons Asse, farmer, living south of Tilden, Nebr., about July 31 or August 1.

Had Woman's Effects.

According to police, Hough had on his person a number of hairpins, some of a light color and others steel, a dark hairnet, a woman's powder puff, and a woman's Jersey sweater, believed to have been one that the McKinney girl was wearing when she left home. No papers were found on Hough.

According to the story told police by Beach, Hough and he had picked up together at Odebolt, Ia., and hopped a freight train together towards Sioux City. When they were kicked off together by the conductor of the train at Correctionville, Ia., Beach said they started to make their way towards Sioux City, hopping rides on trains and automobiles.

Beach also said, according to police, that Hough started once to tell him something that seemed to perturb him, but on second thought, shut up "like a clam."

Beach said that Hough had told him that he was a "booze runner."

The following story was obtained by a representative of the Democrat-Forum from E. H. McKinney, the dead girl's father.

We had lived at Herrick for the past four years, and I owned a farm three miles from town. Lillian was the second oldest daughter, and was graduated from High School last May. She was an unusually strong girl and could do a man's work. Since school was out she had been working in a restaurant in town and staying nights with an old lady in town.

I last saw Lillian about 7:30 o'clock Tuesday, August 5. She had come in from work and I said "Hello Lillian." She gave me a short answer, something very unusual for her. I went to the milking and a little later one of the small boys came to me and said Lillian had left to go riding with Mr. Wilson. She had done this several times before, but usually with an older sister.

Although she had not been staying at home of nights recently, I worried about her a great deal, and did not sleep one wink that night. I got up early the next morning and went to town and found out that she had not been in that night. I went back home and told my wife that I believed that Lillian had run away from home. She said she believed so too, and one of the children said that she had seen her return to the house and get her coat and a brown package after Wilson came for her in the car. My wife afterward discovered that the blue crepe dress was missing. There was a silk chemise on the floor of her room, and I believe that she lost that

SELF MASTERY OF FAITH NECESSARY

SAYS REV. CUNNINGHAM AT UNION SERVICES

SERVICES NEXT SUNDAY

Will Be Held at the Baptist Church at 8 o'Clock in Evening—Rev. Cline Gives Invocation

Taking his text from the second chapter of Ephesians, eighth verse: "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourself: it is the gift of God," the Rev. C. C. Cunningham said that a saving faith must mean a confidence in something more than a mere mortal man, so then a faith in Jesus Christ is the saving element for us, at the Union Church services which was held at the Christian Church last evening. The Rev. Cunningham the Baptist pastor-at-large of Northwest Missouri is temporarily filling the pulpit of the local Baptist Church.

It was the Rev. Cunningham's belief that "Faith" was the next biggest word to "Salvation" in the language, for by faith salvation is obtained. The word "faith" is being used a great deal now as well as the word "Salvation" and that all life and all future life rests in salvation.

A saving faith, the minister told his hearers, must comprehend five things, namely, the belief in the life of Jesus Christ, the death of Jesus Christ, the resurrection, the assention, and last of all, a confession of the self to the thing that we believe. And the first four that he named will not save us in the eyes of Jesus Christ unless we can confess a whole-hearted belief in Him.

Jesus Christ was more than a mortal man, the Rev. Cunningham said. He led a supernatural existence. This fact was brought out by what Jesus Christ himself once said: Before Abraham was, I am." And the Rev. Cunningham said that if Jesus Christ then told the truth He was supernatural.

In order to comprehend this supernatural element of Jesus Christ we must believe the divine and supernatural element and this must be a self mastery belief, which the minister said, is a saving faith. Our human life necessarily must be touched by a higher form and it is only through the contact with the divine spirit.

It is necessary to commit yourself to the thing you believe in and the saving faith comprehends a committal that will give us a joy in life, the Rev. Cunningham summed up in concluding his sermon.

Dr. C. C. James of the First M. E. Church lead the congregation in singing the hymns. He announced that the next Union Services would be held at 8 o'clock next Sunday evening in the Baptist Church. The Rev. B. F. Cline of the M. E. Church, South, gave the invocation in which he prayed for the salvation and mankind and Dr. James gave the closing prayer. Dr. James' brother, the Rev. Frank James, read from the scriptures before the Rev. Cunningham began his sermon.

ROAD BOOSTERS MEET IN ST. JOE

W. C. PIERCE, REPRESENTATIVE FROM NODAWAY COUNTY

TWELVE DELEGATES GOING

From 12 N. W. Mo. Counties to Lay Plans for Continuing Missouri's Good Road Program

W. C. Pierce of Maryville has been named as Nodaway County's representative in the good roads booster organization throughout the state. Mr. Pierce expects to go to St. Joseph tomorrow to attend a meeting at the Elks Club of representatives from twelve Northwest Missouri counties.

This will be the first of ten meetings to be held over the state in the next two weeks to put proposition No. 5 before the voters. The proposition, according to Theodore Gary, chairman of the state highway commission, will mean Missouri's 7,640 mile hard surfaced highway system will be completed and adequately maintained in the next six years.

A representative from Buchanan, Andrew, Caldwell, Davies, Atchison, Worth, Harrison, Nodaway, Clinton, DeKalb, Gentry and Holt counties will attend.

Carry on Educational Campaign

A state-wide organization known as the Missouri State-Wide Good Roads association has been formed to carry on the educational campaign for proposition No. 5. The state has been divided into ten sections for the educational campaign, the division meeting here being No. 1. W. L. Connett of St. Joseph is chairman of this division.

Proposition No. 5 contains three provisions: First, to make possible the sale of the remainder of the state's $60,000,000 road bond issue in 1925, 1926 and 1927; second to place a tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline used in motor-propelled vehicles using public highways, excluding tractors, farm machinery and other consumption, and third, to increase the state automobile registration fee 50 per cent.

The men and women who will attend the meeting here will work out program for carrying on the campaign in their counties.

"Missouri's highway situation is facing a serious and grave crisis," Mr. Gary said in explaining the proposition in a speech in St. Louis. "Unless the proposition is voted, state highway construction must stop in 1925, as no provision has been made to sell any more of the bonds that year. The department has reached the slowing down point. This proposition will mean the early completion of the roads, with the resultant benefit to the farmer, the tourist and every citizen of the state."

Thirty-Six States Have Tax

Mr. Gary explained that thirty-six of the states now have a gasoline tax.

While Missouri ranks ninth in the number of motor cars and fourth in good roads work, it ranks forty-first in the amount of money paid by cars for road upkeep, according to Mr. Connett, who attended the organization meeting with the state highway commission in St. Louis Friday.

Those who will attend the meeting here include:

Judge W. K. James, Avenue City; Kit Cross, Savannah; Joe Pape, Gallatin; William Marshall, Tarkio; D. C. Simmons, Grant City; E. H. Frisby, Bethany; W. C. Pierce, Maryville; Paul Culver, Grayson; Pat Hitt, Maysville; G. M. Perry, Albany, and F. C. Cook, Oregon.

Mr. McGrew, S. S. Connett of the state highway commission, and others also will attend the meeting.

WILL MAKE PLANS FOR DEFENSE DAY

AT MEETING IN THE CITY HALL TOMORROW NIGHT.

Mayor W. O. Garrett Appointed Chairman of the Demonstrations On This Day by Gov. Hyde.

Mayor W. O. Garrett has called for a meeting of the representatives of the civic, patriotic and military organization at 7:30 o'clock at the City Hall tomorrow evening to formulate plans and appoint commitees to take charge of the National Defense Day in Maryville on September 12, the day when Gen. John J. Pershing retires from the army. Mr. Garrett has been appointed the leader of the day by Gov. Arthur M. Hyde for the patriotic demonstration.

The organizations that have been asked to have representatives at the meeting tomorrow evening are the Red Cross, Women's Clubs, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Women's Auxiliary, the Spanish American War Veterans, American Legion Post, Daughters of the American Revolution, all the Churches, the schools, Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Columbus, Masons, Woodmen of the World, Boy Scouts, Elks, High School, Twentieth Century Club and Leslie G. Somerville to represent the county schools. All other organizations not named are invited to send representatives and all others interested in the National Defense Test Day. At this time suggestions for the day's program will be entertained and a definite program mapped out with the committees appointed.

The tentative program at present will be to have a gigantic parade of all the civic and military organizations of the county pass a reviewing stand and march to a place where patriotic speakers will address the assemblage. It is also suggested that the parade march to the College Park where a dinner be served. All the flags available are requested to be displayed on September 12. Plans for the day will also be taken up with the teachers of the county when they will be in session here the latter part of the month.

The plans for the military organizations have been completed, Major Rolf Raynor said today. Battery C will fire a salute for General Pershing and take part in other maneuvers. The military organizations of the county that have been designated to take part in the National Defense Day Test are: Medical Detachment 128th F. A., and Service Battery, 128th F.A.,of Burlington Junction, and Battery C, 128th F. A. and Hq. & Hq. Detachment and Combat Train, First Battalion, 128th F. A. of Maryville.

General Raupp, Jefferson City has sent the following letter of suggestion to Mayor W. O. Garrett:

Suggestions to Mayor.

"It is realized that local conditions will affect the nature and extent of the program to be followed for the Defense Test on September 12, and hence the following is submitted to you, only as a suggestion in the arrangement of a program:

"A parade of the National Guard, Organized Reserve units and other service, civic and patriotic organizations in your vicinity, to pass a reviewing stand to a designated place where the

MORE WATER BEING CONSUMED IN CITY

SINCE NEW RATES WENT INTO EFFECT, JULY 1.

LITTLE CHANGE NOTICED

In Water Receipts for Water Used During June and July—Less Water Since Students Left.

That the water consumers in Maryville are using more water since the 20 per cent reduction in rates went into effect commencing July 1, is evidenced by the comparison of the water receipts during the first sixteen days in July and of August. Up to and including the 16th day of July, for water used in June, there was $2,955.89 paid at the city hall and during the same number of days in August for which water rent in July was paid, amounted to a slight sum less, being $2,842.29, according to the books at the city hall.

In conversation J. W. Qualls, superintendent of the City Water Department, this morning, it was the opinion of Mr. Qualls that the city water patrons are taking advantage of the lower water rates and are using more water. Mr. Qualls said that he has as yet not figured up the amounts of water consumed during the two months, June and July, but he was quite certain that the City Water Plant pumped more water since the rates went into effect, than when the previous rates were in effect. "Of course," Mr. Qualls said, "The weather conditions have to be taken into account, but I am reasonably sure that more water was used during the month of July than during June." Mr. Qualls gives considerable credit for the increase consumption of water in the city to the lessening of the rates.

The city then is not receiving much of a slump in water receipts, due to the lower rates as is shown by the figures for the first sixteen days of the July and August during which water bills were paid for June and July respectively, a difference of only $125.60. Miss Merle Cooper, city clerk, said this morning that the greater share of the water bills are paid before the middle of each month, as the consumers who pay before the eleventh of each month, receive a 10 per cent discount for cash.

The foregoing fact is proven by comparing the figures for the days when bills were paid while the 10 per cent discount was in effect and the total amount at the middle of the month. During the nine days in August, when the discount was allowed, for the July water bills, amounted to $2,436.01 and the total amount paid up to this morning has been $2,842.29.

Mr. Qualls said this morning that the College students when in the city, use considerable water, it being a little less than one-fifteenth of the total amount used when the largest supply of water is pumped. The consumption of water during this month will be somewhat less than during July as the College students, numbering more than 1,500 here for the summer session, left at the close of school the last day of July.

After checking over his figures, Mr. Qualls said this afternoon that the City Water Plant pumped 10 per cent more water in July than during the previous month and the total number of gallons pumped during the thirty one days of July would reach approximately twelve million gallons.

He said that "The water that is pumped up to the city has one-third less lime in it than the water that is drawn direct to the river into the reservoirs," thus dispelling the belief that the placing of chemicals in the water leave a taste and a color of the chemicals placed in it at the filtration plant. Securing this water with less lime in it Mr. Qualls says is obtained "by chemical reactions between the lime and alum, put in the water, on each other, forming a new substance entirely, which quickly settles in the settling basin, taking the dirt and coloring down with it. And there is no such thing, when properly mixed, as having alum in the water."

SPEEDY REPARATION APPROVAL FORECAST

ACCEPTANCE IS EXPECTED BY REICHSTAG AND CHAMBER

MARX MEETS CABINET

German Official Family Today Discusses New Protocol With President and Returned Delegates.

London, August 18.—Despite opposition from the Nationalists, speedy ratification of the London reparation agreement both by Germany and France was forecast today. Approval by the British and Italian parliaments were accepted as a foregone conclusion.

Some features of the Dawes plan were criticized today but for the most part public feeling was one of relief. It is generally agreed that the prospects for real European peace are now better than at any time since the war.

Ramsey MacDonald, the Laborite premier, has had so many successes since he assumed office that Tory and Liberal newspapers appeared to congratulate him with some reluctance.

Berlin, Aug. 18—Chancellor Marx and the other German delegates to the London reparations conference, arrived home today and immediately went into conference with President Ebert after Ebert had summoned a cabinet meeting to get a full report on the conference.

London, August 18.—It is expected an allied financial conference will be held in Paris early in September to amplify the report of the third London conference committee relative to distribution of the reparations.

American claims will be submitted for funds expended for the upkeep of the American army of occupation on the Rhine and to re-imburse American citizens for war damage.

Premiers MacDonald and Herriot discussed the possibility of an international disarmament conference before the former's departure for Scotland.

Premier MacDonald expects President Coolidge to take the initiative in a disarmament parley.

MR. COOLIDGE'S SPEECH

Mr. Coolidge's acceptance speech must meet two severe tests.

First, the public mind, still under the exhilarating spell of Mr. Davis' militant message, will instinctively compare the two papers.

As to the intellectual caliber of the candidates as revealed in their utterances, the verdict cannot be doubted. Of more importance is the impression made upon readers by the outlook on life of these men. The Coolidge document, cold and precise, contrasts bleakly with the crusading quality of the Davis philosophy. The one seemingly regards government as a business proposition, a report of which can best be told in statistics. The other holds that human rights supersede property rights, that the happiness of people should be government's first concern.

Differing as they do in point of view, the difference in their reactions to conditions in our public affairs is not to be wondered at. Betrayal of official trust to Mr. Davis is a species of perfidy that stirs him to the depths and demands indignant and determined prosecution. On the score of corruption Mr. Coolidge imperturbably observes that dishonesty, though deplorable, is to be expected. The scandals that have blackened the administration and shaken public confidence are dismissed as episodic by Mr. Coolidge, with the assurance that "the Government, under my direction, is doing the best it can to detect and punish all wrongdoing."

There is a second gantlet of comparison which Mr. Coolidge's acceptance speech must run, namely, the deadly parallel of facts. If Calvin Coolidge were a historian and undertook to write the story of the last four American years would his narrative bear any substantial resemblance to the account of the Republican party's stewardship which Candidate Coolidge purports to give?

Candidate Coolidge, for instance, believes profoundly in the principle of protection. In the patter of the full-dinner-pail era, he declares that the Fordney-McCumber tariff act has spread its beneficiaries over all the land and bestowed its blessings on all the people, including the farmer. Historian Coolidge might be as fervent a protectionist as Candidate Coolidge, but would the historian speak of the present tariff law in the same terms of unmeasured praise as does the candidate? Would Historian Coolidge insist that the farmer was one of the beneficiaries of this law? If he did would the farmer believe him?

Looking beyond the water's edge, Candidate Coolidge presents a true picture of the world of today in the one moving paragraph of his speech. He recognizes that we are a member of the family of nations and "we cannot be isolated." Besides the humanitarian obligations embodies in this development there is an economic fact of major importance. It is agreed that the United States must market successfully its surplus production in order to have sound prosperity. Europe is our best market. But Europe as a market has been badly impaired by the problems and poverty following the war, yet for four years the present administration has officially extended no hand to Europe and has refused officially to join in any effort to put Europe on its feet. In the face of those facts would Historian Coolidge say, as Candidate Coolidge says, that our foreign relations have been handled with consummate skill?

Candidate Coolidge informs us that "most generous laws for the relief of disabled veterans have been enacted and the Veterans Bureau established." Would Historian Coolidge feel that he told the truth in stating that fact, Would not Historian Coolidge explain how millions upon millions of dollars, proudly provided by the American people for the disabled soldiers, had been stolen and dissolutely squandered by the unspeakable Forbes?

Mr. Coolidge's earnest plea for clean elections will be approved by good citizens of all parties. But how can his hope that campaign contributions will be made for the common good and not with the expectation of governmental favors be realized as long as the Republican party adheres to its present tariff policy and practice? The tariff law which Mr. Coolidge proudly reminds us is yielding half a billion dollars of revenue to the Government, is yielding several billions yearly to the interests that wrote the bill. That is the governmental reward they are receiving, which Historian Coolidge would have to describe as the most colossal subsidy ever granted any group by any Government.

A candidate is, to be sure, a special pleader, and privileged, perhaps, to present his case as best he can. But the facts cannot be disposed of by silence or by homilies on the wisdom of the commonplace virtues. The facts of Republican misrule and political and moral incapacity are appalling. But there is nothing in Mr. Coolidge's speech of acceptance to indicate that he has been shocked or even disturbed by what has happened in Washington the last four years. On the contrary, he promises the country nothing better than four more years of it.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Below, Senator James A Reed & Prince Henry of England

Prince Henry, 24 years old, third son of King George of Great Britain, is reported about to wed a daughter of the Duke of Buccleuch, at whose home in Scotland he has been a recent visitor. The Spanish throne is tottering and King Alfonso may abdicate owing to the grave political situation, according to rumors. United States Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, denied he will desert the Democratic Party and in a statement issued after his recent illness pledged his full support. Cardinal Mercier, the venerable Belgian prelate, whose health has several times been reported failing, is suffering from phlebitis, a disease which attacks the veins, dispatches from Brussels say.

TAPPING NATURE.

In South America a project is afoot to tap nature's boiler shop. A daring engineering scheme which includes a close approach to the fiery flanks of steaming Mt. Tatio on the boundary of Chile and Bolivia has been advanced and likely will be attempted.

The idea is to make use of the steam from this live volcano. A recent engineering report on the possibilities of power generation from volcanic steam estimates that not less than five hundred million kilowatt hours a year can be produced from this source. This, by burning coal, would require about half a million tons a year. And in Chile and Bolivia most of the coal has to be imported.

It is believed the steam from Mt. Tatio can be run direct to turbines without the usual process of cleansing which is costly. Similar tapping projects have been tried in California and Italy with success. The South American venture is an other evidence of man's determination to command, even be it over the hitherto unmanageable forces of nature.

It will be hard to keep cool with Coolidge for the reason that Mr. Coolidge is going to be kept mighty warm during the next ten weeks keeping out of the way of both John W. Davis and Bob La Follette.

Attorney General Barrett seems to be doing very well in his efforts to get a fair price on gasoline in Missouri. Since he began his investigation the price has fallen on an average of two cents per gallon. For final and permanent results however, there is a question as to whether court fines are much of a deterrent. Court processes are slow and ordinary fines do not strike any great amount of terror to the hearts of great monopolies. Monolopies, as a rule, fear effective competition more than they do the courts. Governor Bryan of Nebraska got very quick and effective results by setting the machinery of the state in motion to engage in the business as a competitor for the protection of the consuming public. And here is a proposition worth the consideration of state law makers in future.

Forumettes

You can't get the Best of a lot of Fellows because
They haven't any.

Much of the conversation we hear is like static.

If the rules for getting rich would work the fellows who want to sell them would keep them to themselves.

Can you remember when local policemen carried bullseye lantern around with them which they flashed by sliding a little door and which burned lard oil?

Our neighbor's high school son drove out in the country a few nights ago to call on a farmer's daughter and the kids on the place played a neat trick on him. They let the wind out of all his tires. Many of us can recall the old days when a city fellow would drive out to the country on a like errand and when his buggy whip would be stolen if he did not take it into the parlor with him.

Uncle Abner, the town philosopher, says the fellow who is well balanced never goes off at a tangent.

Just leave it to the great state of Kansas. Out there a barber has mounted a barber pole on an automobile and drives about the countryside bobbing the farmers' daughters' hair.

A while back grandmother was inclined to be harsh with her flapper granddaughter's styles but now she is embracing them.

Our neighbor's wife says she can't understand why it is that a man after he is married forgets that his wife likes flowers, candy or endearing words.

We can't understand why all the paragraphers are always poking fun at the women for being so talkative. We know there are hundreds of silent ones (in the cemeteries).

The garage repairman tells us there is nothing so hard on brake linings as the sudden appearance of a swell looking flapper on the sidewalk while you you burn up the pavement at 40 miles P. H.

Being polite to the wrong fellow often gets you into trouble.

Once upon a time there was a man who jumped out of bed with a song on his lips when the alarm clock rang but all fairy tales start with once upon a time.

Little Story for Today.

An Englishman, on a walking tour in Scotland, approached an old man on a bridge looking into the water contemplatively. He stepped up and asked: "My good man, can you tell me where I can get a good drink of whisky in this town?"

"Noe, nae," answered the old man. "I kinna do that, sir—but I can tell you where you can get two."

The fellow who spends his vacation at home will never be guilty of telling rubber fish stories.

Louise, the stenographer, says all the employes in her office get two vacations—one when they go away and one when the boss takes his.

The fellow with money to burn seldom burns it.

Vagrant Musings.

We should forget injuries as easily as we do favors.

Many a woman's upkeep has been some man's downfall.

It sometimes happens that truth is stranger than fiction.

The reason some women's letters are so slow in being delivered is because they were given to their husbands to mail.

A man may never be too old to learn but he often is too young to realize it.

Today's Vaudeville Patter.

Biff—We have a house full of relatives visiting us.

Bang—How long are they going to stay?

Biff—I don't know; but I hope they don't make it a Democratic convention visit.

WISE CRACKS

The older you get, notes the Wichita Beacon, the quicker the future becomes the past.

Many June husbands are forgetting how to drive with one hand already, snickers the Kansas City, paper.

Pity the blind but not the blind pig or tiger.—International News Service.

Perhaps one reason a vacation is called an "outing is because of the amount of cash you are "out" by the time you get back home, suggests the McPherson, Kas. Republican.

The only reason some men don't tell their wives everything observes the Howard, Kas., Courant, is because they don't know it.

No woman can undertsand why a man smokes cigars on a hot day. And the Atchison, Kas. Globe admits that it does look a little foolish.

The "Twin Rivers" correspondent of the Neodesha, Kas., Register, predicts that within the next five years some one will ask: "What's become of the girl who used to shave but once a week and wear long hair all the way down to her ears?"

The devoted man who volunteers to carry a parasol for a woman, would like to meet the inventor of that device, some dark night.—Oklahoma City Times.

Clothes make the man in society or business and lack of them the women at the bathing beaches, observes the Springfield, Mo., Republican.

Small town restaurants are all right in their place, but we'd like to bet somebody a pair of wings that there aren't any in heaven, snorts the Iola Register.

When a man dies, very few people wonder if he got to heaven. Most of them wonder how much life insurance he left. Even in death money is the god these days.—Atchison, Kas., Globe.

A wise bachelor never takes a girl riding on a moonlight night or pokes his finger in an electric fan, announces the Wichita, Beacon.

Many a pink complexion, observes the Cherryvale, Kan., Republican, hides a blue girl, green with envy.

If all the June brides put their biscuits together, we could build some excellent roads affirms the Oxford, Neb., Standard.

Have you ever been to that kind of a party where you looked at your watch, thinking it was midnight, and found it was only 9:30? asks the Iola, Kas., Register.

A paragraph that will come into its own this month: Officials of the school are looking forward to the largest enrollment in the history of the institution.—International News Service.

CARL HOUGH FOUND IN SIOUX CITY, IA.

as she was wrapping up a package with a few belongings.

After the disappearance Mr. Hough, the boy's father, (Wilson is an assumed name) told me that he had done all he was going to for the boy. He had forged checks, served a sentence for stealing a car, and been into trouble all his life, and his father said he was through trying to help him.

Thursday morning a neighbor brought me a copy of the Omaha World-Herald, and said he believed the description of the dead girl would fit Lillian. I read the description and went to Herrick and called the World Herald and told them about the disappearance of my daughter. I started for Bedford, but was taken from the train by World Herald reporters at Fremont, Nebraska, and brought by auto the rest of the way.

I think that they left Herrick alone. Parties saw them leave the town, and there was no one else with them. Lillian had never had any trouble in the home, and always got along with us splendidly. Mr. Hough told me he didn't know where his boy got the Buick car, as he had driven the father's Ford away about two weeks before, and returned with the Buick.

Mrs. Forrest Gillam and baby daughter, Virginia Joan returned yesterday from a two week's visit with Mrs. Gillam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Z. Palmer, in Kansas City.

Miss Eva Henderson of Lawrence, Kan., is a guest at the home of her aunt Mrs. Earl Barmann, and Mr. Barmann. She arrived last Friday for a week's visit.

JAN PLAYED BIG ROLE IN LOEB'S LIFE.

"Angel Faced Dickie Loeb," one of the youthful slayers of kidnapped Robert Franks in Chicago, told the defense alienists who examined him that his first nurse, Miss Anna Struthers, now Mrs. Bishop, of Boston, played a big role in his life.—Mrs. Bishop, pictured here, with "Dickie" when he was a mere child, was strict with him, the boy said, and he learned early in life to lie to her to avoid punishment. She did much to push him forward in his studies, and his youthful precociousness may have been due to her rapid advancement of him in his studies.

K. C. Mayor Would Fine If Weeds Are Not Cut

Kansas City, Aug. 18.—Hay fever sufferers were cheered somewhat here this week when the city health director issued an order that weeds must be cut from every vacant lot.

"This idea that hay fever is all in the head is right, but its not imagination, by any means," the director stated. "I am going to protect the unlucky ones who cannot get away to another climate."

A city ordinance providing fines of from $1 to $500 a day for each day weeds are permitted to remain unmolested after notification is on the state books here.

Who sings of tresses that maidens now wear? Sing me a ditty of maids with bobbed hair; Twang on t lyre with a soul soothing strain; Twang it and whang it and give it a pain; Sing of the girl with the soul dreamy eyes; Sing of that one of diminutive size; Go it your best and then see if I care; Sing of the maid with a stack of bobbed hair.

When I think back to the not long ago, Maidens were pensive and gentle I know; Even the big girls wore plenty of curls; Fellows just thought them more precious than pearls; Tresses of gold bound the heart of the swain, longer and stronger than heaviest chain. Ding bust the luck, to be right on the square Who wants a picture of "Her" in bobbed hair?

Fashions will fizzle and fads will play out, leaving a sort of dark brown taste no doubt, Yet who can guess what the next fad will be? Something I s'pose on the toe or the knee or on the nose, where t'would surely be seen, purple or henna or maybe goose green. Where are the noodles who deal in fad stuff? Somebody tell them we've had quite enough. Cheer up good brother and never despair, all things will pass, even so will bobbed hair.

Saving 500 Million Dollars Annually

THE Oil and Gas Journal, of July 24, 1924, says: "Measured in terms of what is saved car and truck owners in the prices they must have paid for gasoline, if no cracking process had been in use, cracking saved the motorist last year probably $500,000,000."

"And this is the significance of cracking," continues this journal—"a significance that can be measured in dollars saved to the millions who call at the filling station for gasoline."

The entire business of cracking gasoline has been developed since January 7, 1913, when the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was granted its first patent for what is known as the Burton Cracking Process.

In 1923 there were some 2000 cracking "units" in operation, of which about 1600 were Burton Process, and the remaining 400 scattered among other cracking processes of more recent origin.

During 1923 the 14 million cars and trucks used about 6,800,000,000 gallons of gasoline.

Despite the flood of crude oil, during 1923, there were but 4,950,000,000 gallons of straight run gasoline available for these 14 million cars and trucks.

Hence it is obvious that without the cracking process now so generally in use, gasoline prices would have been substantially higher than they were and one-fourth of these vehicles could not have been operated.

This clear, simple statement of facts, verified and set forth in a non-partisan manner in a keen review of the situation by Charles E. Bowles in the Oil and Gas Journal, is more convincing than a dozen arguments in proving the immense service which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has rendered the automobilist, by developing the Burton Cracking Process, and by inventing stills and other refining machinery to a point where there is practically no crude which cannot be treated and made to yield substantial quantities of good gasoline.

If the Oil and Gas Journal is correct in its figures, and we believe that they are conservative, the average saving per car was $35.72 for 1923—a saving essentially due to the progressive policy of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

MOVING PICTURES

A sparkling comedy, jammed full of laughs, under the title of "Galloping Fish," filmed by Thomas Ince, in which the harnessing of the Colorado River was one of the casual feats, will be shown tonight and tomorrow night at the Empire Theater. This picture was run last week at the Main Street Theater, Kansas City and the Sun in Omaha. The picture is a first National release.

The adventures of a beautiful "diving Venus" and her trained seal who live through twenty-four harrowing and hilarious hours when the girl tries to hide the seal from a sheriff seeking to attach it for an unpaid bill, offer the foundation for the unusual story of this new laugh-provoker. The climax of the production is a flood which sweeps away a settlement on the edge of a big dam.

A crew of Ince technicians worked for several weeks constructing houses, barns, circus cages and also a taxi which would float on the stream.

Louise Fazenda, Sid Chaplin, Ford Sterling and Chester Conklin, who head the cast, spent many harrowing hours afloat on a roof, which they mistrusted, on the dangerous river. The house-top on which several of the scenes are enacted was held to the bank by two cables, one of which promptly broke the first time the roof was set afloat. The comedy troupe registered terror without any instruction from the director and were only saved from disaster by the fact that a current of the stream washed the roof into the shore before the second cable gave way from the strain.

A trained seal, which does some remarkable "acting" in the picture, has the title role of the production, said by critics who have pre-viewed it to be even funnier than Ince's comedy, "The Hottentot," which carried off all blue ribbons last year.

WILL MAKE PLANS FOR DEFENSE DAY

patriotic exercises could be conducted, there patriotic exercises to consist of prayers for the national welfare, speeches and music.

"Flags to be displayed and to provide lunches for those participating in the parade.

"Suggest that someone be appointed to act as a local publicity director to co-operate with Roy Godsey, Jefferson City.

W. A. Raupp, Chairman, State Mobilization Committee."

Part of the contents of a letter from W. A. Raupp, chairman state mobilization committee:

"Gov. Arthur M. Hyde has appointed the mayor, W. O. Garrett, chairman of a general committee to make arrangements for a suitable Defense Test program for the community. You are at liberty to select committees to assist in providing for such a demonstration. It is intended that committees represent various state and local agencies which would be used in an emergency under either a volunteer or selective system."

General Raupp goes on to give the purpose of Defense Test Day, which follows in part:

"National Defense Test, in accordance with the Congressional Act, is a demonstration of the national mobilization plan. It endeavors to acquaint the patriotic citizenry of the nation as well as the War Department, as fully as possible on the present status of our security. The program proposes to indicate what action would be necessary in a national emergency by individual citizens and by communities if our country is to be successfully defended. In addition, Defense Day affords the nation an opportunity to demonstrate the effectiveness of its plans for the mobilization of industry and material resources which must be relied upon in adjusting peace time energy and industry to meet the essential requirements of the defense of our national existence with a minimum of disturbance to normal conditions. Such a demonstration, amounts in the strictest sense, to but an inventory and an appraisal of the elements which disclose our military strength for defense purposes and does not add a single man to the military forces of the United States. All national officers of American Legion have endorsed the day, and it is suggested that commanders of local American Legion Posts will be pleased to offer themselves and Posts to committees.

"The patriotic spirit and the national impulse of each state a community is being put to the test on this National Defense Day. The responsibility of participating in the defense of the home is at once the highest duty and the greatest privilege of citizenship."

Defense Breaking For Loeb-Leopold

State Continues Unrelentingly Today In Legal Drive. Boys Want to Testify.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—New evidence of the mental soundness and constitutional normalcy of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb was introduced into their trial today by the state attorneys who are seeking to hang them for the murder of Robert Franks.

Dr. William G. Krohn, fourth of the state's array of alienists supplied a fresh touch to the deadly array of psychiatric opinion by narrating from the witness stand a conversation he had with Leopold only a few hours after he had made his confession of the Frank crime.

Dr. Krohn testified Leopold and he entered into a lengthy and very technical discussion of various psychological tests. Dr. Krohn stated he thought Leopold was of a highly developed mentality.

Dr. Krohn said that state's attorney Crowe asked both boys in his presence whether they knew the difference between right and wrong when they killed the boy and Loeb said absolutely. Crowe asked whether they did not have the power to make a choice between right and wrong and both agred they did, the alienist stated.

All through the examination of the boys in the state attorney's office, Krohn said, "showed absolutely no sign of abnormality or organic brain disease."

Chicago, Aug. 18—Dick Loeb and Nathan Leopold have asked Clarence Darrow, their chief defense attorney, to be permitted to take a hand in the murder hearing before Justice John R. Caverly—Loeb to take the stand and Leopold to examine him, and also to cross-examine state witnesses.

Loeb and Leopold are not fully satisfied with the manner in which Darrow the Bachrach brothers are carrying on the defense. The youths favor a more vigorous policy.

Dr. James Whitney Hall, chief defense alienist, corroborated the story of the request by Nathan and Richard.

"Leopold is a lawyer of no mean ability," Dr. Hall said, "He is very eager to take a hand in the cross-examination. And on the other hand Loeb wants to go on the stand to bring to light many discrepancies in evidence introduced by the state."

Darrow has definitely made up his mind against permitting either of the boys to go on the stand. There is little chance of either being allowed to do as he wishes.

Ankle "Slimmers" All The Go In Okla. City

Oklahoma City, Okla, Aug. 18—Ankle "slimmers" in flesh colored rubber are the last thing among the fadists in Oklahoma City.

With the wearing of nothing but low shoes for several years, women's ankles have increased in girth from one to two inches, on an average, according to local shoemen.

In the days past, tightly laced high shoes made the ankles smaller.

The new reducers may be worn either under the stocking, especially for golf, and wear around the home, or under flesh hose for dancing, for they are scarcely discernable.

The new addition to milady's wearing apparel are sold in what were formerly corset departments, those departments having suffered a severe slump in business of late.

CARL HOUGH FOUND IN SIOUX CITY, IA.

POSING UNDER NAME OF HARRY WILSON.

SAYS HE WAS MARRIED

Found Wife Gone After Booze Party Held With Two Other Men In Clarinda.

Bedford, Ia., Aug. 18.—Carl Hough has been arrested.

The man with whom Lillian McKinney, whose dead body was found under a bridge near New Market last Wednesday ran away from her home in Herrick, S. D. on August 5, was arrested in Sioux City at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon and admitted at midnight last night that he is Hough. He was going under the name of Harry Wilson.

Hough told the police that he and the McKinney girl were married in Spencer, Neb., by the Rev. Mr. Williams and that when they went to Clarinda, Ia. they went on a "booze party" with two other men and that he became unconscious and, upon coming to, he found his wife gone.

Hough was apprehended following a tip to the police by Don Beach, of Omaha, who said that he was kicked of a train at Sioux City with a man answering Hough's description. A search of the city found Hough walking through the business district.

Sioux City police also stated tonight that they had recovered a Buick touring car with a Nebraska license, No. 23-765. This is the car in which Hough was reported to have left Herrick, S. D., with the McKinney girl on August 5, and which it is alleged was stolen from Norfolk, Nebr., shortly before that time. The license plates on the recovered car were the same ones stolen from Mons Asse, farmer, living south of Tilden, Nebr., about July 31 or August 1.

Had Woman's Effects.

According to police, Hough had on his person a number of hairpins, some of a light color and others steel, a dark hairnet, a woman's powder puff, and a woman's Jersey sweater, believed to have been one that the McKinney girl was wearing when she left home. No papers were found on Hough.

According to the story told police by Beach, Hough and he had picked up together at Odebolt, Ia., and hopped a freight train together towards Sioux City. When they were kicked off together by the conductor of the train at Correctionville, Ia., Beach said they started to make their way towards Sioux City, hopping rides on trains and automobiles.

Beach also said, according to police, that Hough started once to tell him something that seemed to perturb him, but on second thought, shut up "like a clam."

Beach said that Hough had told him that he was a "booze runner."

The following story was obtained by a representative of the Democrat-Forum from E. H. McKinney, the dead girl's father.

We had lived at Herrick for the past four years, and I owned a farm three miles from town. Lillian was the second oldest daughter, and was graduated from High School last May. She was an unusually strong girl and could do a man's work. Since school was out she had been working in a restaurant in town and staying nights with an old lady in town.

I last saw Lillian about 7:30 o'clock Tuesday, August 5. She had come in from work and I said "Hello Lillian." She gave me a short answer, something very unusual for her. I went to the milking and a little later one of the small boys came to me and said Lillian had left to go riding with Mr. Wilson. She had done this several times before, but usually with an older sister.

Although she had not been staying at home of nights recently, I worried about her a great deal, and did not sleep one wink that night. I got up early the next morning and went to town and found out that she had not been in that night. I went back home and told my wife that I believed that Lillian had run away from home. She said she believed so too, and one of the children said that she had seen her return to the house and get her coat and a brown package after Wilson came for her in the car. My wife afterward discovered that the blue crepe dress was missing. There was a silk chemise on the floor of her room, and I believe that she lost that

SAYS REV. CUNNINGHAM AT UNION SERVICES

SERVICES NEXT SUNDAY

Will Be Held at the Baptist Church at 8 o'Clock in Evening—Rev. Cline Gives Invocation

Taking his text from the second chapter of Ephesians, eighth verse: "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourself: it is the gift of God," the Rev. C. C. Cunningham said that a saving faith must mean a confidence in something more than a mere mortal man, so then a faith in Jesus Christ is the saving element for us, at the Union Church services which was held at the Christian Church last evening. The Rev. Cunningham the Baptist pastor-at-large of Northwest Missouri is temporarily filling the pulpit of the local Baptist Church.

It was the Rev. Cunningham's belief that "Faith" was the next biggest word to "Salvation" in the language, for by faith salvation is obtained. The word "faith" is being used a great deal now as well as the word "Salvation" and that all life and all future life rests in salvation.

A saving faith, the minister told his hearers, must comprehend five things, namely, the belief in the life of Jesus Christ, the death of Jesus Christ, the resurrection, the assention, and last of all, a confession of the self to the thing that we believe. And the first four that he named will not save us in the eyes of Jesus Christ unless we can confess a whole-hearted belief in Him.

Jesus Christ was more than a mortal man, the Rev. Cunningham said. He led a supernatural existence. This fact was brought out by what Jesus Christ himself once said: Before Abraham was, I am." And the Rev. Cunningham said that if Jesus Christ then told the truth He was supernatural.

In order to comprehend this supernatural element of Jesus Christ we must believe the divine and supernatural element and this must be a self mastery belief, which the minister said, is a saving faith. Our human life necessarily must be touched by a higher form and it is only through the contact with the divine spirit.

It is necessary to commit yourself to the thing you believe in and the saving faith comprehends a committal that will give us a joy in life, the Rev. Cunningham summed up in concluding his sermon.

Dr. C. C. James of the First M. E. Church lead the congregation in singing the hymns. He announced that the next Union Services would be held at 8 o'clock next Sunday evening in the Baptist Church. The Rev. B. F. Cline of the M. E. Church, South, gave the invocation in which he prayed for the salvation and mankind and Dr. James gave the closing prayer. Dr. James' brother, the Rev. Frank James, read from the scriptures before the Rev. Cunningham began his sermon.

Proposition No. 5 contains three provisions: First, to make possible the sale of the remainder of the state's $60,000,000 road bond issue in 1925, 1926 and 1927; second to place a tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline used in motor-propelled vehicles using public highways, excluding tractors, farm machinery and other consumption, and third, to increase the state automobile registration fee 50 per cent.

The men and women who will attend the meeting here will work out program for carrying on the campaign in their counties.

"Missouri's highway situation is facing a serious and grave crisis," Mr. Gary said in explaining the proposition in a speech in St. Louis. "Unless the proposition is voted, state highway construction must stop in 1925, as no provision has been made to sell any more of the bonds that year. The department has reached the slowing down point. This proposition will mean the early completion of the roads, with the resultant benefit to the farmer, the tourist and every citizen of the state."

Thirty-Six States Have Tax

Mr. Gary explained that thirty-six of the states now have a gasoline tax. While Missouri ranks ninth in the number of motor cars and fourth in good roads work, it ranks forty-first in the amount of money paid by cars for road upkeep, according to Mr. Connett, who attended the organization meeting with the state highway commission in St. Louis Friday.

Those who will attend the meeting here include:

Judge W. K. James, Avenue City; Kit Cross, Savannah; Joe Pape, Gallatin; William Marshall, Tarkio; D. C. Simmons, Grant City; E. H. Frisby, Bethany; W. C. Pierce, Maryville; Paul Culver, Grayson; Pat Hitt, Maysville; G. M. Perry, Albany, and F. C. Cook, Oregon.

Mr. McGrew, S. S. Connett of the state highway commission, and others also will attend the meeting.

WILL MAKE PLANS FOR DEFENSE DAY

AT MEETING IN THE CITY HALL TOMORROW NIGHT.

APPOINT COMMITTEES

Mayor W. O. Garrett Appointed Chairman of the Demonstrations On This Day by Gov. Hyde.

Mayor W. O. Garrett has called for a meeting of the representatives of the civic, patriotic and military organization at 7:30 o'clock at the City Hall tomorrow evening to formulate plans and appoint commitees to take charge of the National Defense Day in Maryville on September 12, the day when Gen. John J. Pershing retires from the army. Mr. Garrett has been appointed the leader of the day by Gov. Arthur M. Hyde for the patriotic demonstration.

The organizations that have been asked to have representatives at the meeting tomorrow evening are the Red Cross, Women's Clubs, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Women's Auxiliary, the Spanish American War Veterans, American Legion Post, Daughters of the American Revolution, all the Churches, the schools, Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Columbus, Masons, Woodmen of the World, Boy Scouts, Elks, High School, Twentieth Century Club and Leslie G. Somerville to represent the county schools. All other organizations not named are invited to send representatives and all others interested in the National Defense Test Day. At this time suggestions for the day's program will be entertained and a definite program mapped out with the committees appointed.

The tentative program at present will be to have a gigantic parade of all the civic and military organizations of the county pass a reviewing stand and march to a place where patriotic speakers will address the assemblage. It is also suggested that the parade march to the College Park where a dinner be served. All the flags available are requested to be displayed on September 12. Plans for the day will also be taken up with the teachers of the county when they will be in session here the latter part of the month.

The plans for the military organizations have been completed, Major Rolf Raynor said today. Battery C will fire a salute for General Pershing and take part in other maneuvers. The military organizations of the county that have been designated to take part in the National Defense Day Test are: Medical Detachment 128th F. A., and Service Battery, 128th F.A.,of Burlington Junction, and Battery C, 128th F. A. and Hq. & Hq. Detachment and Combat Train, First Battalion, 128th F. A. of Maryville.

General Raupp, Jefferson City has sent the following letter of suggestion to Mayor W. O. Garrett:

Suggestions to Mayor.

"It is realized that local conditions will affect the nature and extent of the program to be followed for the Defense Test on September 12, and hence the following is submitted to you, only as a suggestion in the arrangement of a program:

"A parade of the National Guard, Organized Reserve units and other service, civic and patriotic organizations in your vicinity, to pass a reviewing stand to a designated place where the

MORE WATER BEING CONSUMED IN CITY

SINCE NEW RATES WENT INTO EFFECT, JULY 1.

LITTLE CHANGE NOTICED

In Water Receipts for Water Used During June and July—Less Water Since Students Left.

That the water consumers in Maryville are using more water since the 20 per cent reduction in rates went into effect commencing July 1, is evidenced by the comparison of the water receipts during the first sixteen days in July and of August. Up to and including the 16th day of July, for water used in June, there was $2,955.89 paid at the city hall and during the same number of days in August for which water rent in July was paid, amounted to a slight sum less, being $2,842.29, according to the books at the city hall.

In conversation J. W. Qualls, superintendent of the City Water Department, this morning, it was the opinion of Mr. Qualls that the city water patrons are taking advantage of the lower water rates and are using more water. Mr. Qualls said that he has as yet not figured up the amounts of water consumed during the two months, June and July, but he was quite certain that the City Water Plant pumped more water since the rates went into effect, than when the previous rates were in effect. "Of course," Mr. Qualls said, "The weather conditions have to be taken into account, but I am reasonably sure that more water was used during the month of July than during June." Mr. Qualls gives considerable credit for the increase consumption of water in the city to the lessening of the rates.

The city then is not receiving much of a slump in water receipts, due to the lower rates as is shown by the figures for the first sixteen days of the July and August during which water bills were paid for June and July respectively, a difference of only $125.60. Miss Merle Cooper, city clerk, said this morning that the greater share of the water bills are paid before the middle of each month, as the consumers who pay before the eleventh of each month, receive a 10 per cent discount for cash.

The foregoing fact is proven by comparing the figures for the days when bills were paid while the 10 per cent discount was in effect and the total amount at the middle of the month. During the nine days in August, when the discount was allowed, for the July water bills, amounted to $2,436.01 and the total amount paid up to this morning has been $2,842.29.

Mr. Qualls said this morning that the College students when in the city, use considerable water, it being a little less than one-fifteenth of the total amount used when the largest supply of water is pumped. The consumption of water during this month will be somewhat less than during July as the College students, numbering more than 1,500 here for the summer session, left at the close of school the last day of July.

After checking over his figures, Mr. Qualls said this afternoon that the City Water Plant pumped 10 per cent more water in July than during the previous month and the total number of gallons pumped during the thirty one days of July would reach approximately twelve million gallons.

He said that "The water that is pumped up to the city has one-third less lime in it than the water that is drawn direct to the river into the reservoirs," thus dispelling the belief that the placing of chemicals in the water leave a taste and a color of the chemicals placed in it at the filtration plant. Securing this water with less lime in it Mr. Qualls says is obtained "by chemical reactions between the lime and alum, put in the water, on each other, forming a new substance entirely, which quickly settles in the settling basin, taking the dirt and coloring down with it. And there is no such thing, when properly mixed, as having alum in the water."

FAILURE POSSIBLE FOR WORLD AIRMEN

DIRECT HOP OF 800 MILES ONLY HOPE FOR U. S. AVIATORS.

ICE SEASON IS COMING

Iceland To Greenland Hop Extremely Hazardous—Italian Airmen Overtakes Them Sunday.

Washington, Aug. 18.—A direct hop of 800 miles from Iceland to Cape Farwell, Greenland, remains the only hope for the American round the world fliers, if they want to complete the circumnavigation of the globe this season, it was declared at the war department today.

The announcement was based on a radio report from Lieut. Lowell Smith, commander of the expedition, who said he and Lieut. Eric Nelson, planned to start as soon as practicable for Greenland.

The date of their departure, however, is uncertain, Smith said.

Lieut. Locapelli, the Italian round the world flier, has caught up with Americans, hopping from the Faroe Islands to Iceland on Sunday. He will accompany the Americans on their flight to Greenland, permission having been granted by the war department.

SPEEDY REPARATION APPROVAL FORECAST

ACCEPTANCE IS EXPECTED BY REICHSTAG AND CHAMBER

MARX MEETS CABINET

German Official Family Today Discusses New Protocol With President and Returned Delegates.

London, August 18.—Despite opposition from the Nationalists, speedy ratification of the London reparation agreement both by Germany and France was forecast today. Approval by the British and Italian parliaments were accepted as a foregone conclusion.

Some features of the Dawes plan were criticized today but for the most part public feeling was one of relief. It is generally agreed that the prospects for real European peace are now better than at any time since the war.

Ramsey MacDonald, the Laborite premier, has had so many successes since he assumed office that Tory and Liberal newspapers appeared to congratulate him with some reluctance.

Berlin, Aug. 18—Chancellor Marx and the other German delegates to the London reparations conference, arrived home today and immediately went into conference with President Ebert after Ebert had summoned a cabinet meeting to get a full report on the conference.

London, August 18.—It is expected an allied financial conference will be held in Paris early in September to amplify the report of the third London conference committee relative to distribution of the reparations.

American claims will be submitted for funds expended for the upkeep of the American army of occupation on the Rhine and to re-imburse American citizens for war damage.

Premiers MacDonald and Herriot discussed the possibility of an international disarmament conference before the former's departure for Scotland.

Premier MacDonald expects President Coolidge to take the initiative in a disarmament parley.

MR. COOLIDGE'S SPEECH

Mr. Coolidge's acceptance speech must meet two severe tests.

First, the public mind, still under the exhilarating spell of Mr. Davis' militant message, will instinctively compare the two papers.

As to the intellectual caliber of the candidates as revealed in their utterances, the verdict cannot be doubted. Of more importance is the impression made upon readers by the outlook on life of these men. The Coolidge document, cold and precise, contrasts bleakly with the crusading quality of the Davis philosophy. The one seemingly regards government as a business proposition, a report of which can best be told in statistics. The other holds that human rights supersede property rights, that the happiness of people should be government's first concern.

Differing as they do in point of view, the difference in their reactions to conditions in our public affairs is not to be wondered at. Betrayal of official trust to Mr. Davis is a species of perfidy that stirs him to the depths and demands indignant and determined prosecution. On the score of corruption Mr. Coolidge imperturbably observes that dishonesty, though deplorable, is to be expected. The scandals that have blackened the administration and shaken public confidence are dismissed as episodic by Mr. Coolidge, with the assuranee that "the Government, under my direction, is doing the best it can to detect and punish all wrongdoing."

There is a second gantlet of comparison which Mr. Coolidge's acceptance speech must run, namely, the deadly parallel of facts. If Calvin Cooldige were a historian and undertook to write the story of the last four American years would his narrative bear any substantial resemblance to the account of the Republican party's stewardship which Candidate Coolidge purports to give?

Candidate Coolidge, for instance, believes profoundly in the principle of protection. In the patter of the full-dinner-pail era, he declares that the Fordney-McCumber tariff act has spread its beneficiaries over all the land and bestowed its blessings on all the people, including the farmer. Historian Coolidge might be as fervent a protectionist as Candidate Coolidge, but would the historian speak of the present tariff law in the same terms of unmeasured praise as does the candidate? Would Historian Coolidge insist that the farmer was one of the beneficiaries of this law? If he did would the farmer believe him?

Looking beyond the water's edge, Candidate Coolidge presents a true picture of the world of today in the one moving paragraph of his speech. He recognizes that we are a member of the family of nations and "we cannot be isolated." Besides the humanitarian obligations embodies in this development there is an economic fact of major importance. It is agreed that the United States must market successfully its surplus production in order to have sound prosperity. Europe is our best market. But Europe as a market has been badly impaired by the problems and poverty following the war, yet for four years the present administration has officially extended no hand to Europe and has refused officially to join in any effort to put Europe on its feet. In the face of those facts would Historian Coolidge say, as Candidate Coolidge says, that our foreign relations have been handled with consummate skill?

Candidate Coolidge informs us that "most generous laws for the relief of disabled veterans have been enacted and the Veterans Bureau established." Would Historian Coolidge feel that he told the truth in stating that fact, Would not Historian Coolidge explain how millions upon millions of dollars, proudly provided by the American people for the disabled soldiers, had been stolen and dissolutely squandered by the unspeakable Forbes?

Mr. Coolidge's earnest plea for clean elections will be approved by good citizens of all parties. But how can his hope that campaign contributions will be made for the common good and not with the expectation of governmental favors be realized as long as the Republican party adheres to its present tariff policy and practice? The tariff law which Mr. Coolidge proudly reminds us is yielding half a billion dollars of revenue to the Government, is yielding several billions yearly to the interests that wrote the bill. That is the governmental reward they are receiving, which Historian Coolidge would have to describe as the most colossal subsidy ever granted any group by any Government.

A candidate is, to be sure, a special pleader, and privileged, perhaps, to present his case as best he can. But the facts cannot be disposed of by silence or by homilies on the wisdom of the commonplace virtues. The facts of Republican misrule and political and moral incapacity are appalling. But there is nothing in Mr. Coolidge's speech of acceptance to indicate that he has been shocked or even disturbed by what has happened in Washington the last four years. On the contrary, he promises the country nothing better than four more years of it.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Prince Henry, 24 years old, third son of King George of Great Britain, is reported about to wed a daughter of the Duke of Buccleuch, at whose home in Scotland he has been a recent visitor. The Spanish throne is tottering and King Alfonso may abdicate owing to the grave political situation, according to rumors. United States Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, denied he will desert the Democratic Party and in a statement issued after his recent illness pledged his full support. Cardinal Mercier, the venerable Belgian prelate, whose health has several times been reported failing, is suffering from phlebitis, a disease which attacks the veins, dispatches from Brussels say.

TAPPING NATURE.

In South America a project is afoot to tap nature's boiler shop. A daring engineering scheme which includes a close approach to the fiery flanks of steaming Mt. Tatio on the boundary of Chile and Bolivia has been advanced and likely will be attempted.

The idea is to make use of the steam from this live volcano. A recent engineering report on the possibilities of power generation from volcanic steam estimates that not less than five hundred million kilowatt hours a year can be produced from this source. This, by burning coal, would require about half a million tons a year. And in Chile and Bolivia most of the coal has to be imported.

It is believed the steam from Mt. Tatio can be run direct to turbines without the usual process of cleansing which is costly. Similar tapping projects have been tried in California and Italy with success. The South American venture is an other evidence of man's determination to command, even be it over the hitherto unmanageable forces of nature.

It will be hard to keep cool with Coolidge for the reason that Mr. Coolidge is going to be kept mighty warm during the next ten weeks keeping out of the way of both John W. Davis and Bob La Follette.

In China one man makes 50 pounds of a poor grade of newspaper per day. In this country one paper machine makes 200,000 pounds per day. And that is one difference between China and the United States. Some day China, with her four hundred million inhabitants, may wake up and then, what?

Attorney General Barrett seems to be doing very well in his efforts to get a fair price on gasoline in Missouri. Since he began his investigation the price has fallen on an average of two cents per gallon. For final and permanent results however, there is a question as to whether court fines are much of a deterrent. Court processes are slow and ordinary fines do not strike any great amount of terror to the hearts of great monopolies. Monolopies, as a rule, fear effective competition more than they do the courts. Governor Bryan of Nebraska got very quick and effective results by setting the machinery of the state in motion to engage in the business as a competitor for the protection of the consuming public. And here is a proposition worth the consideration of state law makers in future.

After the disappearance Mr. Hough, the boy's father, (Wilson is an assumed name) told me that he had done all he was going to for the boy. He had forged checks, served a sentence for stealing a car, and been into trouble all his life, and his father said he was through trying to help him.

Thursday morning a neighbor brought me a copy of the Omaha World-Herald, and said he believed the description of the dead girl would fit Lillian. MAN PLAYED BIG ROLE IN LOEB'S LIFE.

"Angel Faced Dickie Loeb," one of the youthful slayers of kidnapped Robert Franks in Chicago, told the defense alienists who examined him that his first nurse, Miss Anna Struthers, now Mrs. Bishop, of Boston, played a big role in his life.—Mrs. Bishop, pictured here, with "Dickie" when he was a mere child, was strict with him, the boy said, and he learned early in life to lie to her to avoid punishment. She did much to push him forward in his studies, and his youthful precociousness may have been due to her rapid advancement of him in his studies.

RETURN TRIP PLANNED

Maryville Business Men May Go To St. Joseph In Near Future—St. Joseph Extends Welcome.

The St. Joseph Boosters had a good time in Maryville last Friday, according to letter received this morning by L. H. Brownfield, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, from Marion E. Cox, president of the Boosters' Club. The St. Joseph Boosters were entertained here at a luncheon at the Country Club. The following is a portion of the letter from Mr. Cox:

"Although the trade trip is over we are still enjoying our stay in your city. Your hospitality was so generous and your treatment of us was so very cordial that we shall remember our brief stay with you for some time to come. Of course, we regret that we were delayed in reaching Maryville, and we feel disappointed over our failure to meet more of your business men.

"On behalf of the Boosters' Club, the business firms represented on the trip and the business interests at large here, we want to thank you heartily for the reception you gave us, and we ask that you convey this expression of gratitude to those responsible for the delightful entertainment provided for us.

"We are intensely interested in the possibility of your business men running down to St. Joseph. Of course, we will want to know when your plans are matured, for we are very anxious that you come and be our guests for as long a time as possible.

"Assuring you again of our deep appreciation of your kindness to us and trusting that we may have the pleasure of having you with us soon, we are,

Very truly yours,
BOOSTERS' CLUB

Who sings of tresses that maidens now wear? Sing me a ditty of maids with bobbed hair; Twang on t lyre with a soul soothing strain; Twang it and whang it and give it a pain; Sing of the girl with the soul dreamy eyes; Sing of that one of diminutive size; Go it your best and then see if I care; Sing of the maid with a stack of bobbed hair.

When I think back to the not long ago, Maidens were pensive and gentle I know; Even the big girls wore plenty of curls; Fellows just thought them more precious than pearls; Tresses of gold bound the heart of the swain, longer and stronger than heaviest chain. Ding bust the luck, to be right on the square Who wants a picture of "Her" in bobbed hair?

Fashions will fizzle and fads will play out, leaving a sort of dark brown taste no doubt, Yet who can guess what the next fad will be? Something I s'pose on the toe or the knee or on the nose, where t'would surely be seen, purple or henna or maybe goose green. Where are the noodles who deal in fad stuff? Somebody tell them we've had quite enough. Cheer up good brother and never despair, all things will pass, even so will bobbed hair.

Saving 500 Million Dollars Annually

THE Oil and Gas Journal, of July 24, 1924, says: "Measured in terms of what is saved car and truck owners in the prices they must have paid for gasoline, if no cracking process had been in use, cracking saved the motorist last year probably $500,000,000."

"And this is the significance of cracking," continues this journal—"a significance that can be measured in dollars saved to the millions who call at the filling station for gasoline."

The entire business of cracking gasoline has been developed since January 7, 1913, when the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was granted its first patent for what is known as the Burton Cracking Process.

In 1923 there were some 2000 cracking "units" in operation, of which about 1600 were Burton Process, and the remaining 400 scattered among other cracking processes of more recent origin.

During 1923 the 14 million cars and trucks used about 6,800,000,000 gallons of gasoline.

Despite the flood of crude oil, during 1923, there were but 4,950,000,000 gallons of straight run gasoline available for these 14 million cars and trucks.

Hence it is obvious that without the cracking process now so generally in use, gasoline prices would have been substantially higher than they were and one-fourth of these vehicles could not have been operated.

This clear, simple statement of facts, verified and set forth in a non-partisan manner in a keen review of the situation by Charles E. Bowles in the Oil and Gas Journal, is more convincing than a dozen arguments in proving the immense service which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has rendered the automobilist, by developing the Burton Cracking Process, and by inventing stills and other refining machinery to a point where there is practically no crude which cannot be treated and made to yield substantial quantities of good gasoline.

If the Oil and Gas Journal is correct in its figures, and we believe that they are conservative, the average saving per car was $35.72 for 1923—a saving essentially due to the progressive policy of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

MOVING PICTURES

A sparkling comedy, jammed full of laughs, under the title of "Galloping Fish," filmed by Thomas Ince, in which the harnessing of the Colorado River was one of the casual feats, will be shown tonight and tomorrow night at the Empire Theater. This picture was run last week at the Main Street Theater, Kansas City and the Sun in Omaha. The picture is a first National release.

The adventures of a beautiful "diving Venus" and her trained seal who live through twenty-four harrowing and hilarious hours when the girl tries to hide the seal from a sheriff seeking to attach it for an unpaid bill, offer the foundation for the unusual story of this new laugh-provoker. The climax of the production is a flood which sweeps away a settlement on the edge of a big dam.

A crew of Ince technicians worked for several weeks constructing houses, barns, circus cages and also a taxi which would float on the stream.

Louise Fazenda, Sid Chaplin, Ford Sterling and Chester Conklin, who head the cast, spent many harrowing hours afloat on a roof, which they mistrusted, on the dangerous river. The house-top on which several of the scenes are enacted was held to the bank by two cables, one of which promptly broke the first time the roof was set afloat. The comedy troupe registered terror without any instruction from the director and were only saved from disaster by the fact that a current of the stream washed the roof into the shore before the second cable gave way from the strain.

A trained seal, which does some remarkable "acting" in the picture, has the title role of the production, said by critics who have previewed it to be even funnier than Ince's comedy, "The Hottentot," which carried off all blue ribbons last year.

STUDENTS PLAN ON SCHOOL THIS YEAR

MAJORITY TO ATTEND STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

EIGHT TO THE UNIVERSITY

Several Other Institutions Claim One Student Each—One Girl to Attend Colorado University

With summer vacation time almost over, Maryville young people are looking forward to school and plans for college or university work are under way. The local State Teachers College claims the majority. In the neighborhood of 100 students from Maryville will be in school at the College this coming school year.

Of schools and universities outside of Maryville the University of Missouri will be the greatest drawing card. Seven boys and one girl have already definitely decided to attend the University and possibly two or three others will later make a decision to attend school in Columbia this year.

The University of Colorado, St. Louis University, Grinnell College and Baker University each claim one Maryville student as does the American School of Osteopathy at Kirksville.

Deposits In Federal Reserve Up 2 Million

Kansas City, Aug. 18—Total reserves in the local federal reserve bank show an increase, compared to a week ago of more than $1,000,000. But liabilities in the shape of deposits and federal reserve note circulation combined have increased more than $2,000,000. This has brought about a decrease in the local federal reserve ratio from 71.2 to 70.8 per cent. Nearly all the above $2,000,000 increase relates to depositions. The federal reserve ration a year ago was 69.3 percent.

WILL MAKE PLANS FOR DEFENSE DAY

patriotic exercises could be conducted, there patriotic exercises to consist of prayers for the national welfare, speeches and music.

"Flags to be displayed and to provide lunches for those participating in the parade.

"Suggest that someone be appointed to act as a local publicity director to co-operate with Roy Godsey, Jefferson City.

W. A. Raupp, Chairman, State Mobilization Committee."

Part of the contents of a letter from W. A. Raupp, chairman state mobilization committee:

"Gov. Arthur M. Hyde has appointed the mayor, W. O. Garrett, chairman of a general committee to make arrangements for a suitable Defense Test program for the community. You are at liberty to select committees to assist in providing for such a demonstration. It is intended that committees represent various state and local agencies which would be used in an emergency under either a volunteer or selective system."

General Raupp goes on to give the purpose of Defense Test Day, which follows in part:

"National Defense Test, in accordance with the Congressional Act, is a demonstration of the national mobilization plan. It endeavors to acquaint the patriotic citizenry of the nation as well as the War Department, as fully as possible on the present status of our security. The program proposes to indicate what action would be necessary in a national emergency by individual citizens and by communities if our country is to be successfully defended. In addition, Defense Day affords the nation an opportunity to demonstrate the effectiveness of its plans for the mobilization of industry and material resources which must be relied upon in adjusting peace time energy and industry to meet the essential requirements of the defense of our national existence with a minimum of disturbance to normal conditions. Such a demonstration, amounts in the strictest sense, to but an inventory and an appraisal of the elements which disclose our military strength for defense purposes and does not add a single man to the military forces of the United States. All national officers of American Legion have endorsed the day, and it is suggested that commanders of local American Legion Posts will be pleased to offer themselves and Posts to committees.

"The patriotic spirit and the national impulse of each state a community is being put to the test on this National Defense Day. The responsibility of participating in the defense of the home is at once the highest duty and the greatest privilege of citizenship."

Defense Breaking For Loeb-Leopold

State Continues Unrelentingly Today In Legal Drive. Boys Want to Testify.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—New evidence of the mental soundness and constitutional normalcy of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb was introduced into their trial today by the state attorneys who are seeking to hang them for the murder of Robert Franks.

Dr. William G. Krohn, fourth of the state's array of alienists supplied a fresh touch to the deadly array of psychiatric opinion by narrating from the witness stand a conversation he had with Leopold only a few hours after he had made his confession of the Frank crime.

Dr. Krohn testified Leopold and he entered into a lengthy and very technical discussion of various psychological tests. Dr. Krohn stated he thought Leopold was of a highly developed mentality.

Dr. Krohn said that state's attorney Crowe asked both boys in his presence whether they knew the difference between right and wrong when they killed the boy and Loeb said absolutely. Crowe asked whether they did not have the power to make a choice between right and wrong and both agred they did, the alienist stated.

All through the examination of the boys in the state attorney's office, Krohn said, "showed absolutely no sign of abnormality or organic brain disease."

Chicago, Aug. 18—Dick Loeb and Nathan Leopold have asked Clarence Darrow, their chief defense attorney, to be permitted to take a hand in the murder hearing before Justice John R. Caverly—Loeb to take the stand and Leopold to examine him, and also to cross-examine state witnesses.

Loeb and Leopold are not fully satisfied with the manner in which Darrow the Bachrach brothers are carrying on the defense. The youths favor a more vigorous policy.

Dr. James Whitney Hall, chief defense alienist, corroborated the story of the request by Nathan and Richard.

"Leopold is a lawyer of no mean ability," Dr. Hall said, "He is very eager to take a hand in the cross-examination. And on the other hand Loeb wants to go on the stand to bring to light many discrepancies in evidence introduced by the state,"

Darrow has definitely made up his mind against permitting either of the boys to go on the stand. There is little chance of either being allowed to do as he wishes.

Ankle "Slimmers" All The Go In Okla. City

Oklahoma City, Okla, Aug. 18—Ankle "slimmers" in flesh colored rubber are the last thing among the fadists in Oklahoma City.

With the wearing of nothing but low shoes for several years, women's ankles have increased in girth from one to two inches, on an average, according to local shoemen.

In the days past, tightly laced high shoes made the ankles smaller.

The new reducers may be worn either under the stocking, especially for golf, and wear around the home, or under flesh hose for dancing, for they are scarcely discernable.

The new addition to milady's wearing apparel are sold in what were formerly corset departments, those departments having suffered a severe slump in business of late.
